FOR WALTER JOHNSON

Chicago, April 10.—President Comiskey, of the Chicago White Sox, to-day offered President Noyes, of the Washington Ameri-can League club, $15,000 for the release of Walter Johnson, Washington's great hold-out pitcher. This is said to be the largest sum ever offered for a baseball player.

season opening is commended for this reason, that by asserting his authority he plainly showed the other members of the Nationals that he alone was supreme in his power. Had Johnson been able to hold up the club for the sum he wanted, other players might take the initiative next season, and so cause all sorts of complications.

When President Tom Noyes, of the Washington club, was told that Johnson had left Coffeyville he did not seem to be much surprised, simply saying. "I felt sure that he would come down to our terms. We have always treated the players fairly. Nobody has a real kick coming, and Johnson would surely have seen the futility of holding out under the existing conditions."

"Joss has a congestion in his right lung, with a bad attack of pleurisy. He is not dangerously sick, but is most uncomfortably ill, being unable to draw a breath without severe pain. He will not be able to play bail for a least one month, and will not be out for at least ten days. His arm is not bothering him, but he is a very sick man, I believe the attack is due to a cold Joss caught while on his spring training trip to Chattanooga."

Cornell did not score until the third, when Howard singled and Duffy dropped Cogan's throw of Thompson's drive. In the fourth Mahoney hit a slow roller to O'Connor, which the hig twirler threw away, Mahoney taking second. Pauenhauer then singled to center, scoring Mahoney. The renter fielder stole second and crossed the plate when Howard cracked one of O'Connor's twisters to the road for a double. The Washinston boy tallied a moment later when Thompson smacked a double to left. This ended the scoring of the game.
